BASELINE 1993

PRN: 2547

C

LAND MANAGEMENT:

SITE: Little if any management of the area. With public access the area is used mainly for tourism although there were signs of horses.

HALO:

As above.

D

DESCRIPTION/CONDITION OF MONUMENT:

Because of the dense vegetation - growing to heights of above 12" the hut circles were not obvious from the ground - their position from the aerial photographs was not clear either. It is possible that the area believed to contain the hut circles may be wrong, because of the similarity of the area.

E

POTENTIALLY THREATENING FACTORS: (see Table 1)

Erosion of the area from tourism is a problem, especially on the steeper slopes - which are open to the wind and rain. The light soil is easily removed once the veg cover is disturbed. Animals (rabbit) are also creating areas of bare earth - esp. around their burrows or gorse banks.
