Site Description

A minor farmstead named Bog on the Ordnance Survey 1st edition map (1889); the name and location suggesting a squatter dwelling on extremely marginal land. It is shown on the 1907 map indicating it was still occupied at that date. It is depicted on the most recent Ordnance Survey mapping (Mastermap 2011). Recent aerial photographs (Ordnance Survey Next Perspectives 2009) show the remains of walls still surviving although overgrown with vegetation. The area around the remains is rough grass.

Management Issues

The main management issue for this site is the control of vegetation which has the potential to damage both buried archaeological remains and the built structure.

Desired Management Outcome

The desired management outcome is to reduce further decay of the built structural remains and to keep them in a stable and visible condition.

Management Actions

The following management actions are required in order to keep the structure in a stable condition:

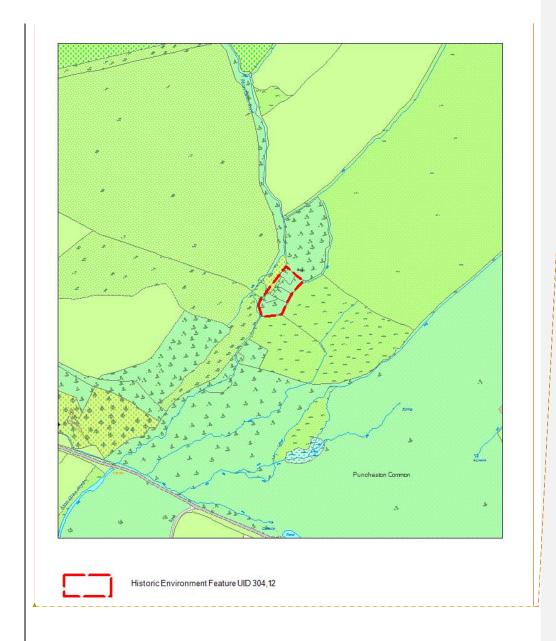

- Cut back vegetation by hand in order to prevent further damage and to enhance the visibility of the structure.
- Do not pull-up by the roots as this is potentially destabilising to masonry bonds.

Glastir Whole Farm Code

Please also remember that, unless we have indicated otherwise, the Glastir Whole Farm Code should be observed for all historic features on your farm. The Whole Farm Code states that you must not damage any historic feature identified on your agreement map. Definitions of damage to a historic feature include ANY of the following:

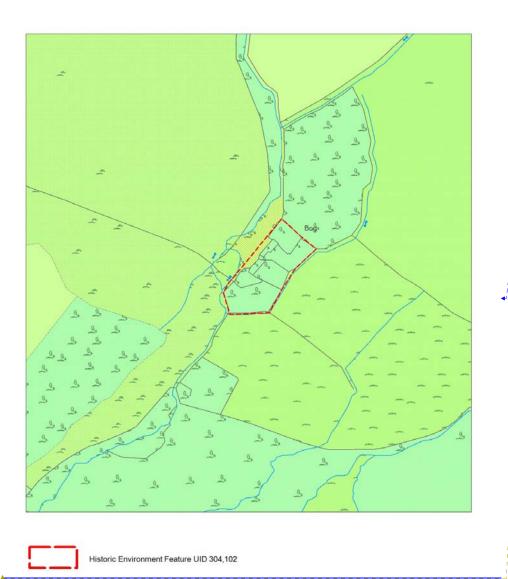

- Ground disturbance or excavation especially extending beneath topsoil.
- Dumping or storage of material, including temporary storage.
- · Removal of any material, including stones, soil or subsoil.
- Visible signs of active erosion (loss and disturbance of topsoil) caused by livestock and vehicles or other agricultural practice.
- · Planting trees.
- Allowing scrub to develop.
- · Ploughing or reseeding.
- · Displacing individual stone features.
