

- ▢ buildings/walls
- trackways
- field boundaries

End walls stand to full height, pitched, with no sign of chimney although this was probably situated along the dividing wall which was very ruined. Doors would be seen in the past that was added but the rest was too ruined from the AP's there seem to be traces of other walls in this + the adjoining field (to the SW)

There may be more outbuildings or they may be ruins of other dwellings.

RAF AP'S 1946

Locals refer to this building as the 'chapel'. However, they are probably mistaking it for Capel Sbach, the other side of the valley