21. (PRN11881) LONG HUT. SN76928809. Bwlch Graig Coch.

Situated on a river terrace of the Rheidol. A rectangular shaped hut 9 m x 4 m, of up to 5 courses of masonry with lower part of building buried 0.5 m in silty peat. The tops of further walls of subsidiary buildings or field boundaries are just visible through the peat. This site may be prehistoric, though it is more likely to be medieval or post-medieval. It is situated some 18 m below the top of the reservoir and it is unlikely to be uncovered in the normal 'tidal' cycle.
