

DAN-LAN-Y-CASTELL, Llangynog (SN 3643 1665)

A series of regular cultivation features akin to ridge-and-furrow have been noted on the north side adjoining this small inland promontory enclosure during air survey on 3.1.86 and 2.2.86. The proximity of these to the enclosure may suggest contemporaneity. There is also ridge-and-furrow further north, on the opposite side of the Carmarthen-Llangynog road. pen 13148
