

Fanlon, writing in his Historical Tour of Pembrokeshire (1903 Edn p 307) mentions the remains of a chapel, with the remains of the mansion. presumably, the chapel remains are part of the mansion complex

R Fanlon.

11 No. 7

Pentre Evan

Mansion 1484

The old home of the Bowens, who were established here before one branch of the family acquired Llwyngwair from the Coles family temp. Henry VIII. The only relic of former importance now remaining at Pentre Evan is a block of buildings with an archway through it, which seems to have been used for stabling.

Mr. Perry Woodhope Club noted that the barn had a fine 13th bayed roof probably early 14th C with some decorated ashlar piers.
Will send details

18/5/84

OWNERSHIP AND TENANCY DETAILS

Urdd Gobaith Cymru