

Some remains of St. David's chapel, of which part of the W & S walls of the nave survive. Built of rubble stone with square quoins.

NMRW. AJP. 15.6.81.

A local resident says that a churchyard existed next to the chapel and that bones were found here by Llwynhendy school pupils. A gravestone was dug up in a neighbour's garden a few years ago; its whereabouts is not known.
