

Sian Rees' description basically sound, but there seems a possibility of a (or b) set stones (one of which is the recognised orthostat)

The "Gallen sidestone" shows a classical pressure fracture which is strongly weathered, suggesting the collapse occurred a good long time ago

CMS.

13/9/82

41 No. 7

Carn Twrne

Rocks

2409

For the courts here of the 3 Lordships of Dewisland, Kemes and Dungleddy, which all met at this spot, see Fenton's Pembrokeshire, p. 337; and Owen's Pembrokeshire, I, 417.