Cromlech and Tump

2723

There is said to have been a cromlech here, but a tump still exists. Henry Williams the occupier states - about 30 years ago when ploughing this mound he found in it burnt earth and burnt stones. The old man to explain this discovery related a story which he had heard from "the old people". Once a year "in old times" twelve maidens, each under 12 years of age, were led into the furnace under the altar and burnt as a living sacrifice.
