

Little remains of this small hill-top enclosure except for a ploughed down bank about 0.6-0.7m high at the NW corner, and the slight remains of an outer ditch. The ditch shows as a cropmark and slight depression and extends some 22 m south of this corner. A short section of ditch extends NE into the next field also ~0.3m deep and 1.6m wide.

The earthwork cannot be traced at the north and east sides but the hedge banks probably follow the original perimeter. The interior is featureless.

Relevans 16/3/84.
