

Basell 1770, on site of earlier church.
Font belongs to earlier structure.

ST. MARY'S and ST CUBIG'S church, built in 1770, upon the site of an earlier church, now disused and in a ruinous state. Just the shell of the church now survives, consisting of a Nave & chancel, with a doorway in the west side, 4 windows (without the glass) and a small blocked up square window.

An arch separates the chancel from the nave, the roof is destroyed, apart from the area above the chancel.

The church has a bellcote, in the west end of the Nave, above the west doorway.
It is leaning at a dangerous angle, no bell now remains.

The church is surrounded by a low churchyard wall, and only has 1 gravestone now remaining, with this dating from the year 1787. The Furnishings from the church were moved to St Guinio's church, Llanwinio, P.R.N 17353. These consist of the old altar & wooden cross, the top half of a possible monumental slab, and the bowl of the old font, which stands outside St. Guinio's.
