

Restored 19th (Considerably)

ST. MAELG'S church.

5 stained glass windows.
Modern Font (?)

Tombstones in N. chancel, oldest one dating from 1707.

Triple Bellcote on western end of the church. 3 bells in it.

Hanging memorial (?) dates from 1849-1935

white washed walls inside the church, obscuring stone work.

A.S. Mall
Nov. 1983

The Parish Church was built in the 14th c. In 1867 it was in a deplorable state without roof, doors, windows or pews. It was re-opened in 1870.

It is cruciform in plan with a nave, chancel, shallow north + south aisles, a chancel chapel, west and south porches and a triple bellcote on the west end which was rebuilt in 1872 as a triple rather than a single bellcote. The windows are modern with the exception of a tall single light with trefoiled head in the east wall of the south aisle chapel which may be 14th c.

EM Davies 1953
The Story of Llandyfadog Parish