

Gelli-deg.

A Georgian house now in a state of dilapidation. Last lived in during the 2nd world war, when the Jennings Family had their residence before they built the new house.

A.S. Mair

Nov. 1983

"The mansion of Gelli-Deg ("the pleasant grove"), which is built in the Italian style of architecture, with a campanile and terrace garden, was renovated and enlarged in 1852."

T/Nicholas/1872