Dear Arwel,

EIAD Application Land at Ffynnonwen

Thank you for your consultation. I have reviewed the map boundaries against the regional Historic Environment Record (HER) and other sources and note that forestry operations have the potential to impact on the following historic environment features recorded within the consultation area;

'Deciduous woodland and individual trees of parkland close to Glan Rheidol lend a wooded appearance to this part of the area.'

Historic mapping clearly shows that woodland in this area was predominantly broadleaved, and with a distinctive parkland character of open ground with clumps or circular enclosures of trees; often conifer, or mixed deciduous and conifer, providing a wider parkland character for the setting of Glanrheidol mansion which lies just to the west of the consultation area.

In order to comply with the UKFS Forests and the historic environment guidance, the historic features marked in green on the map above must not be damaged, therefore an adequate buffer must be provided from planting and any forestry operations. The introduction of new planting must be designed to protect and enhance the historic landscape character.

There is always the possibility for previously unknown remains to survive within this area of which we have no knowledge. Should further archaeological features or finds be identified it is important that Dyfed Archaeological Trust Heritage Management is informed and further advice can be provided as required.

Please get in contact for any further clarification of the points raised in this letter.
Yours sincerely,
