This is a highly significant prehistoric complex; the full extent is not confirmed and there is the possibility for further features which have not been recorded. We recommend a broadleaf buffer be planted to reduce the visual impact between the moorlands and the conifer plantation, this would also provide a more sympathetic setting to the historic environment.

When initially recorded these features were not distinct in the landscape and were not very visible in the moorland. The current condition of these features is unknown; however, they may survive as ruins, earthworks or below ground archaeology. We advise that these historic environment features (labelled on the map above and marked with green polygons and or red stars) are protected from damage during forest operations, to comply with UKFS Forests and the historic environment guidance.

There is always the possibility for previously unknown remains to survive within this area of which we have no knowledge. Should further archaeological features or finds be identified it is important that Dyfed Archaeological Trust Heritage Management is informed and further information and advice can then be provided as required.
