	east sides down to small streams is heavily defended by a bank and ditch on the north side. Overall this defence measures 35m long, 13m wide and about 2m high. There is a simple entrance about 4m wide in its centre. The interior area enclosed is very small, approximately 50m north - south and 25m east - west. It is probably an Iron Age fort, but King has listed it as a possible medieval castle site. The site is under bracken. K Murphy 15 December 2005 - from various sources.
18307	Felin Blaenau corn mill is recorded on the 1889 1st edition Ordnance Survey map as part of a small complex of three or four buildings within a steep-sided stream valley. Two buildings are still depicted on the 1905 2nd ed. O.S. but are gone from modern mapping, the site described (1983) as a ruin in impenetrable forestry plantation (M.Ings, 2012, from various sources)	Mill ; Corn Mill	SN4756951289

Although outside the consultation area, care should be taken near Scheduled Monument PRN 1861 (CD083) and Cadw should be consulted should felling operations overlap the area.

The current condition of some of these features is unknown; however they may survive as ruins, earthworks or below ground archaeology. Felling operations should avoid causing damage in these areas.

There is always the possibility for previously unknown remains to survive within this area of which we have no knowledge. Should further archaeological features or finds be identified it is important that Dyfed Archaeological Trust Heritage Management is informed and further information and advice can then be provided as required.
