

COMMENT

AUTHORITY

"when the Aeron formed the front line of the Brython, and Caer Wedros, Caer Gwentli, Pen-y-gaer near Rhydlydan and Castell Meiddyn formed the front line of the Goidel"

T. Card. AS, Vol. 4, p. 61

divers ancient intrenchments namely . . . another of considerable extent called Castell Meiddyn, at the southern extremity of the parish of Llanarth; a third called Pen-y-Gaer in the same vicinity

Lewis-Topog. Dict.
Wales, Cardiganshire

... and on a farm, called Pen-voel[?] is another old intrenchment, called Pen-y-Gaer.

Meyrick, History of Cardiganshire, p. 23

Tithe Award. Inspected from distance. Unlikely site for fort.

Hogg, BBS, 1962, p. 365
No. 75